

Urban Extension

Reflecting on Our Past and Looking Ahead to 2023

Ohio's urban influence extends throughout the state, reflecting the unique context of each community. Multiple metropolitan areas link Ohio's urban, suburban, and rural interests.

A few highlights reflect Extension's commitment to equitable engagement and equitable opportunity.

Urban Extension

Reflecting on Our Past and Looking Ahead to 2023

With Extension's commitment to equitable engagement and equitable opportunity, priorities from the Urban Extension Plan of Work continue to develop through our focus on people, programs, and partners.

In 2022, urban Extension teams engaged with diverse clientele and partners. We welcomed new Extension leaders in some of our most urbanized areas. We highlighted our work at the National Urban Extension Conference and other local, state, and national events. We celebrated Urban October, creating meaningful urban-rural connections and generating significant media coverage.

In 2023, we will continue expanding urban Extension capacity through significant investments from the university and partners. We will host quarterly conversations to connect new and existing personnel to collectively address what matters most. Together, we're focused on better understanding and navigating Ohio's urban influence and connections along the urban-rural continuum.
