

Urban October Toolkit – 2022

Celebrating Our Urban-Rural Connections

Plans are underway for OSU Extension to join the global community to celebrate Urban October. Urban October was created by UN Habitat as an opportunity for everyone to be part of the conversation about the challenges and opportunities created by the fast rate of change in cities and towns. Ohio's theme is Celebrating Our Urban-Rural Connections – Where We Live, Work, Play, Learn & Serve.

Celebrating Urban October this year provides a foundation for deeper engagement that contributes to healthy urban communities and urban-, suburban-, and rural-relationships. The Ohio State University collaborates with communities throughout the state through alumni, faculty, staff, students/interns, volunteers, and community partners. As part of the university's Land-Grant mission, OSU Extension engages with all of Ohio's 88 counties, including the metro areas.

This year's Ohio Urban October plans include:

- OSU Kindness Food Packing (October 18) and Distribution (October 20) to southeast Ohio in partnership with the Ohio State's Office of Student Life, Ohio State athletics, The Ohio State University Alumni Association, and West Virginia University.
- University- and statewide-campaigns throughout October to increase awareness of OSU Extension and The Ohio State University's connections throughout Ohio.

Urban October will continue to develop in coming years to foster local, state, national, and global connections.

The theme of Ohio's monthlong campaign is "Celebrating Our Urban-Rural Connections." This is OSU Extension's second year participating in Urban October. In the coming years, the Extension team looks forward to collaborating with additional university and community partners to build on this foundation and foster local, state, national, and global connections.
